ST. JUDE'S CHURCH

The response on St. Jude's 85th anniversary Sunday was fairly satisfactory. There was an increased attendance of 60 per cent. at 8 a.m., 50 p.c. at 11 a.m., and 10 p.c. at 7.20 p.m. Most of those who were absent, says the Rector, will probably attend for some reason or other in the next 85 years. Mr. Pearce believes the Church to have had a successful year.

The afternoon held for the Bush Church Aid Hostel brought in £58 6s., which will help to pay maintenance expenses.

The Glenquarry church has been blown off its foundations by the wind, and lies at present in a state of partial collapse.

The Fellowship will meet on Sunday at 5.20 p.m., when Mr. Abbott, of the Wollongong Festival, will give the address.

Skeleton Found

HIKERS MAKE DISCOVERY

Three hikers resident in Sydney, who set out from Tallong to traverse the Shoalhaven River to Nowra, reported to Nowra and Moss Vale police on Wednesday of last week that they had discovered a skeleton on the river bank about 40ft. above the level of the river. Sgt. F. Gibson, of Moss Vale police, and Const. J. Murray, of Bundanoon, accompanied by civilians, later recovered the skeleton, and are of opinion that it is that of a youth, George Willa Hopkins, of Blacktown, who was thrown out when a canoe capsized in February last. The skeleton was found about 12 miles downstream from where the canoe capsized.

Hopkins and a companion, William John Hazard, were travelling by canoe from Tallong to Nowra, when it capsized and Hopkins was thrown into some rapids. Hazard subsequently reported to the police that the feet of his mate became entangled in a rope in the canoe and he was unable to extricate himself. Although police used grappling irons and lived for some days near the river in cold and wet weather, they were unable to recover the body. The district coroner (Mr. W. J. McDonald) conducted an inquiry on 14th April, and returned a verdict of accidental drowning.

The skeleton was viewed by the district coroner at Berrima District Hospital on Friday last, and was later sent to Sydney for identification purposes. Expert examination can determine the age of the deceased person, and dental fillings should accurately establish the identity. Police are working on the theory that the skeleton is that of the drowned youth, George Hopkins, and will submit the jawbone with its dental fillings to a dentist in Parramatta.
